JCHAI Transitions provides social, creative activities and training after school/work and on weekends for young adults 18-30. Social highlights include digital storytelling, dances, birthday and holiday celebrations, art classes, game nights, suburban farming, communal cooking & meals, outings, and more! Our Dimensions group offers outings, particularly for those with HFASD. Trainings include robotics, money management, book & film clubs, safety, fitness, technology, work skills and JCHAI Works Volunteer Corps.

JCHAI at Home is our innovative, award-winning, individualized support program that provides highly skilled social workers to train members who are in their own apartments anywhere in the Philadelphia metropolitan area or living with their families to live & work independently. Open to ages 18-80.

JCHAI Supported Apartments offer our trademark independent living and vocational supports in an apartment setting in the Radwyn Apartments in Bryn Mawr. The apartment program is designed to support individuals who want daily supports and the opportunity for regular group interaction.

JCHAI Presentations

Stacy Jarett Levitan, Esq, JCHAI's Executive Director, a strong advocate, collaborated with a consortium of agencies on implementation of the Workforce Innovation & Opportunity Act. She and our board chair, Judith Creed, are frequently invited to Congress & Harrisburg to share our model programs and to advocate for adults with disabilities.

Dr. Beth Rosenwasser, Director of Community Engagement & Program Development, is an invited speaker and panelist at several area events. Beth is often joined by members of our JCHAI Speakers Bureau comprised of JCHAI member self-advocates.

Stacy, Beth and JCHAI self-advocates are available to speak, give workshops or develop inclusive curricula at our center, your house of worship, conference, organization or school.
